Gerard Mekhsian has an innate ability to find optimal financial solutions for clients and ensure tax savings. He has an IT background, and more than 30 years of experience in accounting, tax and consulting services. Gerard uses business understanding and financial acumen to help domestic and international clients with financial statements and tax compliance. Within his global practice, Gerard focuses on taking care of his client by listening, explaining the impact of tax, and collaborating to reach the identified financial goal.

In 2012, Gerard joined Hutchinson and Bloodgood LLP. He was previously with a public accounting firm in Woodland Hills, California.

Gerard is involved with numerous organizations including AICPA, CalCPA, the Armenian General Benevolent Union (AGBU) M.D. School, and the Armenian Catholic Church in Glendale.

Gerard has a Bachelor of Science degree in Business and Accounting and a Master of Business Administration with a concentration in Computer Information Systems from California State University of Los Angeles.
